Southern Fruit and Vegetable Growing.

The fertile lands along the Louisville & Nashville R. R. in Alabama, West Florida and Mississippi are veritable bonanzas for the fruit grower and truck gardener. One man sold from one single acre, 100 barrels of radishes for $900.00, gross; another patch of 4 acres radishes yielded $1,463.00, net. In the spring of 1902, another truck gardener sold 300 barrels of potatoes in Pittsburg from 3 acres of ground for $1,548, and after paying all expenses, cleared $892.33, or $297.33 per acre. Within two weeks after selling his potatoes, corn was up and watermelon vines were running on the same land. He harvested his corn, sold his melons, and afterwards cut two crops of hay off of the same land and on January 20, 1903, was planting it again in potatoes. Strawberries yield from $300.00 to $550.00 per acre; as high as 12,480 quarts of luscious berries have been grown on a single acre. Address Callaway now has the only daily paper in the county. F. W. Conley is getting out the Daily Tribune for the benefit of the camp meeting people, which is a four-column folio.

The camp meeting, which is now in progress at this place, is not drawing the crowds it did last year, owing to the fact that everybody is too busy taking care of their mammoth crops. Nevertheless those who are able to attend are enjoying the meetings.

August Blixt, a young man residing on Tallin Table, met with a serious accident last Saturday, which will lay him up for some time to come. Himself and father recently purchased a new steam thresher with all the late improvements, and while working with same the self-band-cutting apparatus caught him on the arm cutting a cash several inches long and to the bone. Dr. Mathews patched the unfortunate young man up, and it is thought he will get along all right.

Chris Christensen, a twelve-year-old lad, residing in Rye Valley west of this place, was found dead by his mother last Saturday afternoon. The boy was herding cattle for August Jaeger, and was in the habit of playing in the sand while the cattle were grazing, making small caves, etc. It appears that on the fatal day he had burrowed into the bank for some distance, when the moist dirt from above caved in on him, either crushing him or smothering him. When he failed to return home to dinner, as was his custom, his mother became alarmed, and after the other boys had eaten their dinner, she started out in search of the missing lad. Two dogs were with him, and during the afternoon one of the dogs came to the boy's mother and by following him he led her to the other dog, where she found her boy dead. When found only his feet were protruding from the hole, while the balance of the body was covered with the dirt. She dug in till she learned that life was extinct, when she became exhausted and had to return for assistance. The case is made all the more sad from the fact that only a few years ago his father met accidental death by his team running away with a binder, throwing him in front of the sickle and running one of the guards into his head. Funeral services were held from the home on Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Buckley, and the remains laid to rest in the Kingsbury cemetery beside his father.

Miss Prudy Allen.

Miss Prudy Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Allen, was born in Marcelion, Wis., Dec. 22, 1858, and died at Madison, Wis., August 12, 1903. She went West in 1887 and taught school in different states for several years, then went to Illinois and was graduated from Dixon college in 1892. She returned to the west and continued teaching until about five years ago, when she located at Weisert, Neb., and went into the mercantile business. She was appointed postmistress and had charge of the telephone exchange at that place. The remains were taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. E. C. West in Bellefontain, and funeral services were held at the Comstock school house Aug. 15, which was largely attended. She was laid at rest in the Comstock cemetery.

Miss Allen, the notice of whose death as given above appeared in the Wisconsin State Register of August 21, was well and favorably known to many readers of the REPUBLICAN. She became a resident of this county and engaged at once in school teaching in the fall of 1892. She was a relative of Mrs. W. H. Comstock and was first employed to teach in that neighborhood. Her efforts being attended by marked success she was afterward engaged in the Ansley school and in the vicinity of Westerville. As postmistress of Weisert and owner of a store in connection therewith her acquaintance became more extended. A calm, self-possessed, dignified intellectual lady, she not only made, but retained friends whose loyalty was attested in the sickness and suffering that preceded her removal to Clarkson Hospital at Omaha. She will be missed and mourned by those who knew her, all of whom are better because of their acquaintance and association with one who embraced within herself the qualities and attributes that constitute a good and noble woman. Far from the scenes of her later day labors, surrounded by the hills and picturesque woodlands near the home of her childhood she has found a resting place upon which we place a wreath of laurel with the inscription, "She has not lived in vain."

OBITUARY.

John Gibbs Brown, son of David and Sarah Brown was born August 10, 1840 and being hopelessly converted and giving a very bright testimony was baptised into the fellowship of the Olive Branch Baptist church, Ohio county, Ind., when about 18 years of age. He was united in the bonds of Holy Matrimony to Martha Ann Tucker at Bear Branch, Ohio county, Ind., on the 24 of August 1862. The fruits of this union are eleven children, four sons and seven daughters, all of whom survive the father except two daughters who died in infancy. The deceased emigrated to Danville, Ills., in the fall of 1872 and to Polk county, Neb., in the fall of 1883. He settled upon the present homestead in Loup township, Custer county, Neb., in 1885. He leaves a wife and 9 children and 4 brothers to mourn his departure besides a host of neighbors and friends. He was a good brother, a good father and husband as well as a good neighbor. The funeral services were conducted in the First Eudell Baptist church by Rev. J. R. Woods of Mason City. The remains were followed by a large concourse to the Box Elder cemetery where he was laid to rest. Another link is broken from the family chain. The deceased is the tenth of 14 children to depart this life, he has gone to his reward. Let us cherish his memory, eminate his virtues and forget his faults which were few. All children except two sons were present. —X

Anti-Rust Oats.

O. J. Smith of Anselmo, showed us a sample sheaf of his anti-rust oats of which he raised 30 acres this season. He says they neither rust nor blown down like common oats. He had ten acres of the common oats in the same field that were badly effected with the rust and were badly blown down, while the anti-rust oats did neither. The sample measured four feet and are well filled, large berry and a large strong stalk.
